Artist Mary Ahern Featured on Bloomberg Connects Through Ceres Gallery

New York, NY — Artist Mary Ahern is pleased to announce that her work is now featured on Bloomberg Connects, the free global arts and culture app developed by Bloomberg Philanthropies, through her membership in Ceres Gallery in New York City.

Bloomberg Connects offers visitors access to digital guides from hundreds of museums, galleries, sculpture parks, gardens, and cultural organizations worldwide. The platform enriches the visitor experience with exhibition information, artist insights, images, and multimedia content, making art more accessible to audiences everywhere.

As a member of Ceres Gallery, Ahern joins an international network of artists and cultural institutions represented on the platform. Her paintings explore the relationship between the microcosm of the garden and the vastness of the cosmos, combining bold color, expressive brushwork, and layered abstraction to reveal the interconnectedness of nature and the universe.

"I'm delighted that my work can now be discovered through Bloomberg Connects," says Ahern. "The platform extends the gallery experience beyond its walls, inviting visitors from around the world to engage with contemporary art and the community of artists at Ceres Gallery."

Visitors can explore Ceres Gallery and discover Mary Ahern's work through the Bloomberg Connects app, available free for iOS and Android or on their desktop browser.
